FEED OHIO POOR PLEA TO SOLONS

Increased Utility Tax Demanded by White Opening Special Session
GALLERIES CROWDED
Governor's Address Broadcast Over Radio

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—While gallery crowds sat hushed, Governor George White went personally before the 89th general assembly today and charged it with the sacred duty of feeding Ohio's hungry and clothing Ohio's poor.

Standing before a joint meeting of the two houses at the opening of one of the few special sessions in Ohio history, his voice carried out into the state by radio, the governor exhorted the membership to promptly adopt far-reaching relief legislation—either his or its own.

TELLS OF PLAN
With the reservation that he will insist upon an increased utility tax, the governor at the last minute threw open the gates to relief schemes other than the five-point program of his own making.

If his personal proposal for raising more than $20,000,000 for poor relief prove unsatisfactory, he will be "only too happy" to consider some plan drawn up by the legislature, he said.

With a Biblical allusion to impress the senate and the house of representatives with the solemnity of their task, the governor concluded with this admonition: "Let it not be said that there were in Ohio those who hungered, and we gave them no meat; those naked, and we clothed them not."

OPEN SESSION
The governor's words, ringing through the chamber of the lower house, officially started the long-awaited special session on its way. There was a ripple of applause when he mounted the speaker's rostrum, then an outburst. Twenty of his friends, including cabinet members, heard the message from a reserved section in the gallery.

Announcing that the legislature had been called together "to meet a grave emergency," the governor said that "Ohio, the second richest state in the union, must not and shall not permit its citizens to starve."

"Conditions in our populous centers," he asserted, "have become desperate."

Although legislators listened intently to see whether sporadic outbursts of opposition had forced

REMOVE FAMILY TO HOME IN KENTUCKY

County Commissioners Begin Campaign to Force Non-State Residents to Leave

One means of decreasing destitution in the county is to get rid of southern dependents, mostly from Kentucky, according to sentiment of the board of county commissioners and the unemployment committee. Such a move was begun Tuesday when Probation Officer L. M. Brown removed a family from Muhlenberg-town to its former home in Russell, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adkins and their three children who have been living on the late Harry Renick farm in Muhlenberg-town have been dependent on county relief since their removal here from "the blue grass state" several months ago, according to the county commissioners, and so they began their trip back to "the old home-town" Tuesday.

It is the sentiment of the various charitable organizations that Pickaway-co has enough of its own dependents without furnishing aid to the many Kentucky families who migrated here this winter, to be clothed and fed.

MEET AT BOGGS HOTEL
Twenty-five representatives of the International Harvester Co. of this district were meeting at the Boggs Hotel Tuesday. The group also had its dinner there.

Session Forgets Politics

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—Republican leaders of the house and the senate today decided to "go along" with Governor George White's relief program and promised to try to enact it into law "not later than Thursday night."

Senator Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, majority leader in the upper house, and Representative Lester J. Abele of Cleveland, majority leader in the lower branch, reached their decision in a conference which lasted long into the morning hours.

The result of their conference was announced by Thomas Bateman, clerk of the senate, who attended the meeting with Captain John P. Maynard of Lima, clerk of the house.

FORGET POLITICS
Lewis and Abele agreed that politics must be forgotten in the present emergency which has caused the governor to call the legislature into special session to raise $20,000,000 in unemployment relief, Bateman said.

As the governor has requested, they will try to rush the Democratic administration's program through to an approving vote at once. It is hoped that a vote may be held tomorrow.

Besides approving the governor's five-point plan themselves, Lewis and Abele said they will do all possible to get their Republican followers "into line" to cooperate with the governor.

A joint public hearing on the governor's bills will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, Lewis and Abele decided, and it is hoped that all may be reported out of the joint taxation committee for passage tonight or early tomorrow.

'KEYNOTER' IS NOW QUESTION

Roosevelt Forces May Oppose Shouse; Barkley Is Favored By One Group.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—The boasted ability of the Roosevelt supporters to control the Democratic National committee will be put to its first and severest test in Chicago next Monday in the election of a convention "keynoter."

Half a dozen names were being juggled about today in connection with this honor, which also carries with it the temporary chairmanship of the convention.

Joett Shouse, executive chairman of the national committee, heads the committee on arrangements. Because he has captained Democratic headquarters in Washington in the difficult work of reconstruction since the debacle of 1928 and for other reasons, Shouse is the choice of John J. Raskob and other organization leaders for the temporary chairmanship.

The Roosevelt forces apparently have not united on any one candidate to keynote the convention, although they speak kindly of Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who recently came out for Roosevelt after advising the Kentucky delegation that he did not care for the state's complimentary vote at Chicago.

ST. LOUIS, March 29.—Missouri Democrats at their state convention today had elected 54 delegates to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in June, with instructions to vote for former United States Senator James A. Reed as long as he has a chance to secure the nomination for president.

Missouri's delegates to Chicago will have 36 votes. Fifteen presidential electors were also nominated.

Delegates to the National convention under the instructions adopted, may back Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York if Reed fails to make any gains after several ballots.

Norfolk Shipbuilder Believes Crisis Near In Kidnaping Mystery.

NORFOLK, Va., March 29.—A yes-or-no showdown with the kidnapers is approaching, according to John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk shipbuilder, who has taken a leading part in negotiations for the return of the Lindbergh baby, kidnaped 28 days ago.

Curtis said today that negotiations were still in progress.

TRENTON, N. J., March 29.—The supposed negotiations being conducted with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby by three prominent Norfolk citizens were completely ignored today in the official police bulletin on the case.

The communique, usually brief, dealt for the most part with the report that Abie Wagner, New York racketeer, wanted for questioning in connection with the abduction, "was killed some time ago in New York City."

The name of Wagner has been associated with his pal, Harry Fleischer, member of the notorious "Purple Gang" of Detroit. Fleischer is also wanted for questioning.

HOUSE PROMISES TO VOTE TAXES

Economic Strife, Causes, Outlined In Address Here

World War Primary Cause of Depression
Mr. Dunlap Asserts
LAUDS CONGRESS
Says Lawmakers Working Together in Problem

Blaming the present depression on the World War, Renick W. Dunlap, Pickaway-co native, now assistant secretary of agriculture, addressed the Kiwanis club and a number of guests Monday evening at Hanley's tea room.

"The World War changed things all over the world and especially in the United States," Mr. Dunlap stated. "We went along pretty well for a while after the war and figures show that in 1928 the farmers of the nation made the greatest profit they had ever made. But many factors caused a depression to appear. The nation during the war loaned 24 billions of dollars to European nations, that figure has now been reduced about eight billions. Since the war two billions have been loaned to the allies, which was not used for the purpose of war but to build up commerce to compete with the lender."

IGNORE UNCLE SAM
"Some of the nations whom we are indebted to us have paid some interest. There has been much money paid to individual creditors but not much to Uncle Sam," Mr. Dunlap continued.

He told of the war causing over-production; the farmer producing many more pounds and bushels than were needed after the close of the war creating a surplus which has never been used.

"Bolshevism in Russia, revolutions in 18 nations of the world, a panic in Germany, unrest in Europe, England going off the gold standard, the Sino-Japanese war, drought, floods, over-production of copper, over-production of sugar, cotton and wheat are some of the causes of the present economical condition," the speaker asserted.

COMPARES TAXES
Taxes in the United States were compared with taxes in European nations by Mr. Dunlap. He said that residents of this country do not actually know what taxes are compared to those of the Old Country. He told of a visit in England, Scotland, Germany, Holland, France, Denmark and Belgium in which he studied the tax situation. Upon questioning nearly everyone said the greatest trouble with the country was the unbearable taxes the common people had to pay. England and Germany were the worst. Mr. Dunlap said with 21 different kinds of taxes being paid by the individual in the latter country.

Mr. Dunlap stated "The international banking situation has caused some of the present trouble. These bankers loaned vast sums of money to foreign countries in order to keep business going and as a result the foreigners continued to buy our products. But the bankers reached a limit in not also loaning as heretofore. The result is that the foreign countries are not taking our exports as before. These nations are following the United States in (Continued on Page Seven)

Terrific winds and rains at sea endangered shipping. Several vessels still being in distress, with ships speeding to their aid.

Speaker Garner Cheered As He Asks House to Forget Politics Today

TO PRESERVE CREDIT
Patriotism Appealed to by Leader of House

WASHINGTON, March 29.—In a cheering mass the House of Representatives rose today and pledged Speaker John N. Garner that it will vote taxes to balance the federal budget and thus preserve the credit of the government at home and abroad.

More than 90 per cent of the members, both Democrats and Republicans, rose to their feet when the speaker put the question during a dramatic appeal to the patriotism of members.

GARNEE PLEASED
"That ought to restore to the American people confidence in our country," said Garner observing the demonstration.

"We may have differences in our hearts but we are patriotic." The House, unruly and disorganized for days, was transformed by the unprecedented appeal of the speaker into an audience not unlike those seen in religious services.

The speaker's quiet, fervent appeal was punctuated by members calling out "That's right," "Yes, sir," not unlike the "amens heard in churches."

SPEAKER ACCLAIMED
As the speaker ended his speech with an appeal to members to bury political differences in an effort to save the country from disaster, almost the entire House rose and acclaimed him.

Galleries were crowded with spectators. Tucked away in an inconspicuous seat was Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth whose husband ruled the House as speaker before his death and who was a bosom friend of Garner.

MOVED TO CLIMAX
Outlining the financial situation of the nation Garner gradually moved to this climax:

"Mr. Chairman I want to do something not according to the rules," he said.

"I want to ask every man in this House who will agree to vote taxes to balance the budget to stand up."

Fewer than 20 dissenters remained in their seats.

Mell C. Underwood Relates Why He Voted Against Tax On Beer.

Mell Underwood, Congressman from the 11th Ohio district which includes Pickaway-co, has explained his anti-beer vote last week as follows:

"I voted against the beer tax in the revenue bill because I considered it a futile gesture and an attempt to tax something now illegal and would be in direct violation of the United States Constitution. Congress should not camouflage or attempt to deceive the American people by doing something indirectly that should be done directly."

Underwood was one of the four Ohio Democrats who voted against the proposed tax on beer not withstanding their previous votes in favor of discharging the judiciary committee of the prohibition re-submission bill.

NEW JERSEY FOR LAW REFERENDUM

Statements Made by Attorney Following Visit to Vital Scenes

2 WOMEN SEATED
State, Defense Use Several Peremptories

Following opening statements of attorneys testimony in the trial of Arthur Little, 39, colored, was begun in Judge Joseph W. Adkins' court Tuesday afternoon. Little is the sixth person to go on trial in the brutal murder of John Kidney last Dec. 10.

The first witness called by the state was Mrs. Charles Grice, the first person to enter the Kidney home nearly 12 hours after the commission of the crime.

She was to reiterate practically the same story she told in trials of the other five men, four negroes and one white man.

OTHERS SUMMONED
Following Mrs. Grice, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McDaniels who next entered the Kidney home; Dr. Robert Trimble who was called to the home; Sheriff Charles Raddiff and his deputies, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Yinger and daughter Gladys, who are now caring for Miss Sarah Kidney, and several other witnesses.

Larry Van Shaik, Franklin-co deputy sheriff, and Miss Kidney have also been subpoenaed.

While a definite announcement has not been made it is expected John 'Dumpy' Hairston will again testify for the state. Hairston's trial was completed last week and Judge Joseph W. Adkins who heard testimony without the aid of a jury, is withholding his decision until the Little trial is ended.

VITAL SCENES
The jurors were taken to Hanford village Tuesday morning and to the Kidney home early Tuesday afternoon to view points of vital interest in the case.

The jury was completed just before adjournment Monday evening. It is composed of 10 men and two women.

Although the jury box was filled before the noon adjournment Monday by six men and six women, no peremptory challenges were exercised until about 2:15 p. m.

Those tentatively seated at noon were: Mrs. Fay Burchnell, Monroe-twp.; M. E. J. Helmich, Scioto-twp.; Mrs. Beatrice Bach, third ward; Daniel Reed, Scioto-twp.; Mrs. Nellie Mowery, Saltcreek-twp.; Ben Vause, Harrison-twp.; Lee Shaner, second ward; Charles Owens, fourth ward; Chester Valentine, Saltcreek-twp.; Mrs. Nellie Whitehead, Harrison-twp.; Mrs. Virginia Thacher, Jackson-twp. and Mrs. Mary Riggins, Pickaway-twp.

TWO EXCUSED
Mrs. Whitehead and Daniel Reed were excused by the judge upon consent of both sides shortly after the afternoon session opened. Mrs. Whitehead presented a physician's certificate to be relieved of jury duty. Mr. Reed was excused at the request of the county surveyor who declared Mr. Reed was needed to operate a grading machine on county road work.

Mr. Reed was replaced by John Graham, Scioto-twp, manager of a grain elevator at Mt. Sterling, T. A. Leist of Washington-twp. questioned for the jury position left vacant by Mrs. Whitehead was excused because of an opinion and Isaac Morris, Pickaway-twp. farmer, was seated as the tenth juror. Both sides then passed the jury for cause.

The first peremptory challenge of the state removed Mrs. Beatrice Bach, the third juror seated, and this position was filled by Dwight Rector, farmer of Deercreek-twp. Defense Attorney Weaver removed Mr. Graham on his first challenge. Max Rader, Jackson-twp. and Floyd Bartlow, Pickaway-twp. were questioned by the judge and excused because of opinions. Harriet Krinn, Fourth ward, was excused because she opposed capital punishment. John A. List of Muhlenberg-twp. farmer, was seated.

USE CHALLENGES
Mrs. Burchnell, the first tentative juror seated, was removed on the state's second peremptory challenge and Russell Rodgers, Saltcreek-twp. farmer, was seated in her place. The defense then excused Mr. List and L. J. Welch, farmer, of South Bloomsfield was seated. The state

He finds it on the ranch of a friend who is trying to get out of the country with the secret of a fabulously rich gold mine he has discovered. The young cowboy rides to his aid just in time to find his fill of adventure, fighting and outwitting the desperados who are trying to discover the secret of the hidden mine and to record it in their own name.

Supporting Steele will be seen a cast which includes: Ed. Brady, Ed. Dunn, James Elliott and Buddy Wood. Bert Glennon directed and the film is a Sono Art-World Wide release.

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Tomorrow and Tomorrow." Philip Barry's play of a courageous, unconventional wife to whom marriage is not sufficiently satisfying, is the latest starring film vehicle for Ruth Chatterton, recently completed at Paramount's west coast studios.

This philosophical, yet clearly understandable emotional drama is the Cliftona Theatre's feature for today and Wednesday. Paul Lukas supports Miss Chatterton in the featured male lead.

The play, the latest by the author of more than 10 recent Broadway successes, enjoyed a long run in New York and is now playing in numerous large cities throughout the nation.

It was hailed by critics as one of the best works of Barry.

"The GAY BANDIT of the BORDER" by TOM GILL

COPYRIGHT 1931, BY INTERNATIONAL MAGAZINE CO., INC. DISTRIBUTED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS
For years, Paco Morales rules the pawns in Mexico with an iron hand, confiscating their lands and driving them from their homes, but the crisis has come. "El Coyote," the mysterious bandit, avenges every outrage perpetrated by Morales. The ranchers await their unknown protector's word to revolt. Morales, with the aid of the U. S. Cavalry, has searched for the bandit in vain. Ted Radcliffe, an American whose late father was ruined by Morales, is in love with Adela, the Spaniard's beautiful niece. Jito, Morales' ward, is jealous of Ted. Bob Harkness, Ted's friend, tells him he has plans for settling the score with Morales. While out riding, Ted and Adela lose their way and spend the night in the desert. Adela resents her uncle's suspicions. Later, Bob returns home with Ted and learns that some of his cattle were stolen. He doubts that "El Coyote" is responsible. At Mendoza's, a notorious resort, Bob leaves Ted and goes upstairs to visit Ann Reed, an entertainer. Bob is "El Coyote" and Ann his spy. She is deeply in love with him. As autumn comes, "El Coyote" makes ready to overthrow Morales. Ted accepts Jito's apology for driving Bob's cattle from a water-hole, but warns him against a recurrence. When Ted notices Bob's stolen cattle among Jito's herd, the latter explains he just found them and intended returning them.

CHAPTER XXXIV
Without a word he turned and rode down the slope. As he passed the fallen man, now seated in the sand, the Mexican scowled up at him, but made no move. Quietly Ted rounded up his cattle. Jito had not stirred. He sat his horse, brooding, watching the American with eyes that glowered beneath his sombrero. "Dios," he muttered at last, "when will Don Paco give the word?" For the next month Ted rode the southern range with Don Bob's cowboys. They were busy days. Days that Don Bob, with careful foresight, had made so full they gave Ted no chance either to think or to dream. But as the weeks passed Bob seemed more preoccupied, more silent than before. He sat more often on the porch of the ranchhouse, sunk in thought, gazing over the desert.

So it was Ted found him one morning in early spring. "I heard a rider leaving. Thought it might be you," Radcliffe said. Don Bob tapped a piece of paper in his hand. The gray eyes that looked out over the desert were narrowed to just a hair's breadth and the square jaw seemed a bit more grim. "It's a message from the major," Bob waved the open letter. "A rather curious message, too, when you consider it carefully. There might seem to be a touch of subtle irony in it if one could suspect the major of being playful. Tell me what you make of it." And Don Bob tossed the note across the table and busied himself with a cigarette. Ted read:

Important developments here will probably lead to the immediate capture of the bandit. Tonight in my tent we will know his identity. I have asked Morales and Jito to be there. I should like you present, and bring Radcliffe also. This, of course, is confidential. L. R. BLOUNT, Major, 37th Cavalry. Slowly Ted laid the letter down. His eyes grew questioning as they looked across the table, and after a moment Bob threw back his head and laughed. "It's never well to take our major too seriously, old fellow, he causes better than the publicity man. And no sooner has the publicity man created one idol than he discards it to begin the creation of a new one. So long as the American public is fickle, so long as its taste demands variety in the place of long-established quality and so long as the machinery for turning out idols is superior to the material at hand, success for most people is likely to be short and sweet. When popular worship forsakes a channel swimmer for a trans-oceanic flier the action is more eloquent than words.

When a Child Has Stomach Ache, Look for the Reason

Symptoms of Appendicitis Easily Recognized, but Pains More Frequently Are Due to Colic, or to Some Other Cause

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

STOMACH ACHE in a child may mean something or nothing. Nervous mothers vision appendicitis or some other dire disease at the first complaint of stomach ache. Mothers with stronger nerves are apt to ignore the symptom and say "Oh! it's nothing; probably a little indigestion." The proper course is to investigate the matter. If examination of the abdomen shows marked tenderness on the right side, particularly at a point midway between the navel and the hip bone, the proper thing to do is to send for the doctor. Appendicitis in children lacks the three "classical signs" of that disease in grownups. These are pain, tenderness, and stiffness of the wall of the abdomen on the right side. This stiffness or rigidity is usually lacking in the young, unless the case is far advanced. The pain may be slight, but the tenderness is always present. Moderate fever, accompanied by vomiting and constipation, complete a picture which should arouse suspicion. Bear in mind that the very worst treatment of an appendicitis attack is a dose of physic! But with colic it is just the other way. Rapid eating, with insufficient chewing of food taking improper food and constipation are factors in the causation of colic. Any one of which may cause an attack of colic. In these cases a cathartic, hot applications to the abdomen and abstinence from food for a few hours will usually restore the little patient to health. Certain children, particularly the offspring of nervous parents, may become interested in and unduly apprehensive regarding their own health. They constitute a problem and it takes some study to make sure just what is wrong. A slight cold, involving the throat and nose, may be accompanied by severe reflex pain in the region of the navel. In such a case constipation may be present, but there is no abdominal tenderness. The aim should be to relieve the constipation and to divert the patient's attention from himself. "Stomach colic" is a form of trouble common in nervous children. They are likely to experience severe pain during the early morning hours. There is no tenderness of the abdomen. These cases should be under the care of a physician. In various diseases of the chest and throat, reflex pain may be a prominent symptom. Acute heart failure and tonsillitis are not uncommon causes of reflex abdominal discomfort. Care of the abdomen should be begun in the morning. No tight undergarments should be worn. The abdomen as such an outfit tends to push the organs of digestion out of their proper places. Constipation in an infant should never remain uncorrected. The beginning of many a serious disorder may be traced to this cause. The muscles of the abdomen should be strengthened by gymnastic exercises such as lying on the back and flexing the legs on the abdomen. Creeping is a useful way to keep the abdomen healthy. This muscle work may be practiced as a form of play. This has proved a very popular food and constipation are factors in the causation of colic.

The Daily Horoscope

Tuesday, March 29, 1932

A day of shocks and surprises, sudden developments and unexpected turns to events. Those who have been carrying heavy burdens may be inclined to make drastic moves today. There is a general tendency towards the throwing off of restraint and the exercise of independence. This spells trouble for those who have little self-control. Those born between March 21 and April 21, between June 21 and July 22, between September 22 and October 23 and also between December 21 and January 20, may find this date very trying. They would do well to refrain from making moves and hasty decisions and attend to routine matters only. The afternoon especially around 5:47 p. m. in the Eastern States, is the most critical period. Not good for aviation, electrical works, X-ray treatments or any novel and unusual activities. Best to avoid journeys, changes, and new friendships. The domestic sphere gets the brunt of all this and those who have family ties should be more than usually tolerant. It would be wise to delay the evening meal for an hour or so, to avoid the disruptive tendencies which interfere with digestion. Folks are apt to be over-sarcastic, too abrupt, too independent and resentful around dinner time. The child whose birthdays falls on this date, is easy-going and emotional, full of life and physical energy. They crave harmony in all things, therefore can adopt themselves readily to artistic work. The child who is artistically inclined, such as archery, interested in color combinations. These children possess a pleasing personality which in later years helps them to a success in business. The boys born on this date are smooth talking and do well in debates. In later life they make good lecturers. Many seek occupations as builders and contractors. Celebrities whose birthdays falls on this date are: Carl Busch, composer; John Tyler, ex-president U. S. 1890; Frank Leslie, publisher, 1821; Edward Bellamy, author. Copyrighted by William Ashley Johnson, for Midwest Feature Service.

Need Of Tackles At Ohio Is Seen

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—The need of the clefted shoe against the pigskin was heard on the campus of Ohio State University here again today as spring football practice started.

Approximately 75 candidates, consisting of last year's regulars and members of the fresh squad, answered the call of head Coach Sam Williamson.

Williamson, though declaring that the spring season would be given over to teaching the fundamentals of football, also let it be known that he was searching for a pair of new tackles.

There is a gaping hole in the Scarlet and Gray forward wall as Bob Haubrich and Bill Bell, tackles on the 1931 team, were lost by graduation.

Still, the coach has plenty of potential power for the line. John Hosking, of Fort Thomas, Ky., and Ludwig Yards, of Gary, Ind., tackles on last year's freshman team, are eligible. There also are several leftovers from last year, including Bob Van Blaricon and Gene Baumgartner, although the latter has not reported as yet.

Williamson may reach into the backfield for a tackle and shift Mickey Vuchinich from fullback to tackle if he can find someone to fill Mickey's shoes. And Wetzell, former Columbus North star, was groomed for a fullback on the fresh last season. There also are other possibilities.

The backfield, ends and center positions are not expected to give Williamson a lot of trouble during the spring practice as he has plenty of new material as well as most of the regulars of last year.

RED BIRDS CUT

HOUSTON, Tex., March 29.—There were nine less faces to feed on the roster of the Columbus Red Birds today, for the "bogey man" of training camps had been around.

The nine players were either sold or released yesterday in the first "cut" of the club this season. One player, however, was returned to the Birds.

The players released are: "Red" Rocking, sold to Denver of the Western League; Catcher Ray Robertson, unconditional release; Catcher Gordon Bruckman, sold to Mobile of the Southeastern League for $1,000; Pitcher Roy Moore, released outright to Mobile; Infielder Clarence Hackbarth, sent to Mobile on option; Infielder "Buddy" Laval and outfielder Mally Nydahl, unconditionally released; outfielder Grilly, sent to Springfield, Mo., of the Western League; and Pitcher Pete Sargent to Mobile.

Infielder Hal King, who played with the Red Birds at the beginning of last season and who was tied for the league lead in home runs at the time of his release, has been recalled from Denver.

Pro-Amateur Match To Be Held on May 16 Over Pick-away Club Course.

Pickaway Country Club is to have a real honest-to-goodness golf tournament this summer.

Announcement was made Tuesday that a pro-amateur match will take place on the local course May 16. Frank Casey, local professional, who was instrumental in obtaining the tournament, is in charge of arrangements.

It is expected some of the best professional and amateur golfers in Ohio will appear here that day.

Other tournaments planned by the Central Ohio Professional Golf association are a professional tourney at Granville, April 25, a pro-amateur at Newark, July 18, and the Central Ohio P. G. A. tourney at Miami Valley, Dayton, Oct. 3.

Charles Lorms, of Columbus Country club, was elected president of the association, and Jim Noble of the Miami Valley club, Dayton, was named secretary and treasurer at the annual meeting in Columbus Monday.

NEW ABC LEADER

DETROIT, March 29.—A new leader today commanded singles in the American Bowling Congress while the bowlers prepared for new drives on records.

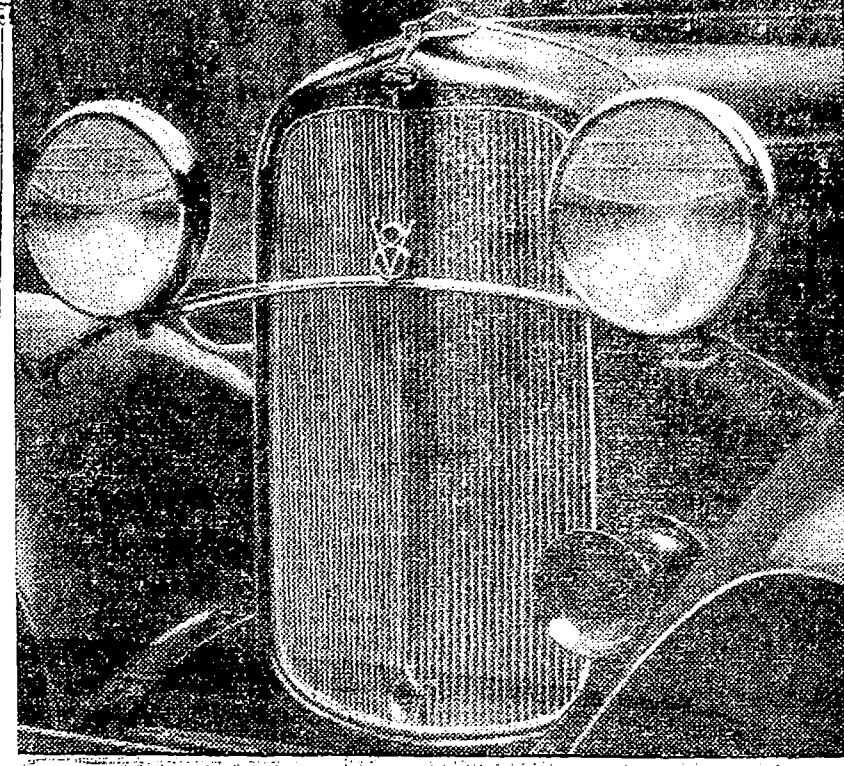

Otto Nitschke, 53-year-old Cleveland business man was the singles leader, his 245, 255 and 231 sending him ahead of Alex Graham, New Philadelphia, O., by 12 pins. Johnny Sublosky and Eddie Zajac, were able to win second position in the doubles with their 1356. They were after first place held by Charley Daw and Frank Benkovic, Milwaukee, but tough luck splits by Zajac kept their scores down.

Woman at Auction Outbids Husband

Gouverneur, N. Y.—An amusing incident occurred during an auction sale here. A man, bidding on a piece of furniture, was annoyed to find he was being outbid by a woman in another part of the crowd. The woman equally was irked. Finally, the woman won out. Upon stepping up to receive her goods, they met. They were man and wife.

Or Thinks He Is

A misogynist is a man who is woman hater.

BONOWITCZ WINS

COLUMBUS, O., March 29.—Frank Bonowicz, 220 pounds of beef on the hoof, today claimed a wrestling victory over George Vassell, 210-pound West Coast matman.

Vassell, thrown after 20 minutes and 51 seconds, was unable to continue for the other two falls and the decision went to the Bostonian.

Other results included: Charles Fox, 215, Cleveland, pinned Sallor Billings, 210, Toledo, in 16 minutes and 26 seconds.

Frank Nower, 205, Cleveland, lost to Oscar Coal, 202, Toronto, after being disqualified for unnecessary roughness, 10 minutes and 30 seconds.

Spud Carter, 143, Columbus, defeated Red Morris, 147, Washington, D. C., 11 minutes and seven seconds.

Texas Cantaloupe Order Sent to German Fancier

Midland, Texas.—Cantaloupes from the Texas Peos river country may go international soon. B. G. Smith, cantaloupe grower near here, recently filled an order for three crates of melons for Cologne, Germany. A German melon fancier wrote that he became attached to the Peos product when visiting here.

Foolish Beliefs Die Hard

Most of us know that until the Nineteenth century the tomato was generally considered poisonous. American soldiers encountered French peasants during the World war who assured them that blackberries would have deadly effects and urged against eating them.

Linked to Eaglet

Long sought for questioning in connection with the Lindbergh baby kidnapping, Harry Fleischer (upper), notorious Detroit, Mich., gangster, has been positively identified from a photograph as one of three men who were seen with a crying baby on board a cruiser off Sandy Hook, N. Y., the day after the kidnapping. The man who identified Fleischer is a run runner to whom the men with the child offered $100 for his compass, saying they had broken their own. Abe Wagner (lower), a partner of Fleischer, was also identified.

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK

That small-time pessimists were putting a few hundred dollars in gold in safety deposit boxes, I knew, but it was not until recently that I heard of a really big league boarder. They tell me that this man hired an armored car and went to the Federal Reserve bank with $2,000,000 in bills. This he exchanged for gold. The gold he took to another bank, where he had hired space to store it. Now they tell me that a ten-gallon keg will hold $50,000 in gold, so you can see how much space the man needed. If he leaves it there long enough, his storage bill should cut quite a slice out of his capital. Moreover, if the things he fears come to pass, the gold will be of no use to him. Either he can't buy anything with it, or somebody will take it away from him. I think I should rather store canned goods. They told me of another man who is shipping kegs of gold to Europe. Because of the exchange, he makes something over $1,000 on a keg.

They tell a good story on Sam Bernard, one of the wealthiest of actors. During the panic of 1907, he had $171,000 on deposit in a bank patronized by the theatrical profession, of which Alf Hayman, a big shot in the show business, was president of the board. He got alarmed about conditions, went to the bank, made out a check for his balance, and took his place in line. When he reached the window, the paying teller said:

"Good morning, Mr. Bernard. The president wants to see you. He is in his office."

"I shall be glad to see the president," said Mr. Bernard, "but just cash this check first." Just then the president of the bank appeared.

"Hello, Sam, old boy," he said. "Come on out here a minute. I want to talk to you."

"All right," said Mr. Bernard, "but I'll finish my business with this young man first. Now," he said, turning to the paying teller, "how about the money?"

At this point, Mr. Hayman came along. "Well, if it isn't Sam Bernard!" he exclaimed genially. "I was thinking about you last night. Come upstairs to the directors' room. I want to talk to you about a new show."

"I'll be right up," said Mr. Bernard, "as soon as I get my money." "Oh, never mind the money now," said Hayman. "We'll take care of that. Come up and let's talk about this show."

"Meanwhile Mr. Bernard had kept his place at the window by hanging to the rail. He said to the paying teller, "How about my money?"

"Don't worry, Sam, old friend. Your money's all right," said Mr. Hayman.

"How about my money?" said Bernard in louder tones and, getting no result, began to shout. "How About My Money?" This was effective.

"Pay this bum his money," ordered Mr. Hayman.

Putting the cash in his pockets, Mr. Bernard turned to Mr. Hayman. "Now, where did you say you wanted to see me?"

"I hope I never see you again," said Mr. Hayman, "and the faster you get out of here, the better I'll like it."

A Long Island woman was driving her car when she saw in the glass that she was being followed by a motor cycle policeman. She tried to remember whether she had

"What have I done that was wrong?" she said.

"Nothing," said the policeman, "but, lady, I have been following you for an hour. You certainly fascinated me. You are the only really woman driver I ever saw."

passed its third challenge and the defense excused Mr. Morris. Mrs. Nora Dyer, Pickaway-twp, was excused from jury duty because of the illness of her two year old baby. Milton Fullen, Muhlenberg-twp was excused by the judge when he testified the county prosecutor was attorney in a case in which he was involved and also that he held a position as trustee in the township. Denny Phillips, second ward, was passed for cause by both sides and took his place on the jury.

The state passed again but the defense removed Chester Valentine, Helen Roll, Salt Creek-twp, and G. M. Newton, Washington-twp, examined for the vacant jury position were excused because of opinions and Mrs. A. C. Noecker, Walnut-twp was seated in the ninth jury position.

Mr. Phillips was removed on the third challenge of the state. George Groves, Harrison-twp, was excused because of an opinion and John O'Hara, Scioto-twp, was placed on the panel.

The fourth challenge of the defense removed Mr. Welch as fourth juror. M. B. Trout, first ward was placed in the fourth jury position after Martin Cromley of Walnut-twp was excused because of an opinion.

WOMEN ELIMINATED
The state's fourth peremptory challenge was used on Mrs. C. Noecker, Walnut-twp and Henry Reed of Deer Creek-twp was seated as juror No. 9. The defense passed its fifth challenge and the state removed Mrs. Nellie Mowery of Salt Creek-twp. Russell Riddle of Darby-twp was placed in the box as juror No. 5 and both sides passed the jury as constituted.

Clerk of Courts Ferd M. Pickens swore the jury at 4:45 p. m. Both sides agreed that an alternate juror should be seated and after Samuel Williams, Wayne-twp, of time instead of footprints.

building a so-called tariff wall only they have gone much farther than this nation.

"WHAT'S BEING DONE?" "What is being done to straighten things?" was the next question brought up by Mr. Dunlap. "In the first place the summing of representatives of industry, labor and agriculture by the president seeking co-operation and aid was one big step. Another was to set up a pool of 500 millions of dollars to aid weak banks. This was done independently. Another big step was the German moratorium. What would have happened?" the speaker asked. "If the moratorium would not have been granted, Germany would have repudiated all debts. Persons who have loaned money to Germany through purchase of bonds would have lost everything and a panic would have been the result. It is probable that Germany will yet repudiate her debts but the situation would not be the same as at first."

Congress was next lauded in Mr. Dunlap's address. He said he had never seen a Congress working together as this one is and has been throughout the session. Leaders of both parties were disappointed that the sales tax was not passed and in time the citizens of the nation will also be sorry. This tax would have solved the highly important problem of balancing the budget. Now other measures which will mean more to the individual must be adopted.

Expectation that salaries of all federal employees will be slashed was expressed by Mr. Dunlap but he said "This will not provide near enough money."

"The trouble is not that the cutgo is so great but that the income is so little," he said.

Mr. Dunlap then disclosed how the various departments of the government obtain their money. He took, for example, the department of agriculture. He is in charge of the budget in that department.

Members of our department submit their budgets to me in July. We have a conference and cuts are made where possible. We then go before the bureau of the budget and spend several weeks going over the various items again paring off wherever possible. The budget is then taken before the House appropriations committee where another two or three weeks are spent and more reduction made. The budget is then taken to the committee of the whole which usually accepts the report. Then the Senate is faced and the budget bill passed or refused.

"With both parties doing everything they can to bring the nation to itself, things appear though we are gradually coming out of the slump. Citizens should not rely entirely on Congress."

EXPLAINS FINANCE
Mr. Dunlap explained the Reconstruction Finance Corporation program which makes loans available to Ohio farmers. The corporation, organized in January, has set aside $75,000,000 to be loaned to farmers for crop production in 1932. Last year 385,000 farmers borrowed $47,000,000. Of this amount Ohio farmers in 31 counties borrowed $217,000 he said.

Every bona fide farmer who is actually farming is eligible to make application for a loan. The security required will be a first lien mortgage on the 1932 growing crop. The largest amount which can be loaned is $400. The amount loaned will be based on the requirements of the applicant for seed, fertilizer, feed for work stock, and fuel and oil for tractors and other necessary supplies. County agricultural agents as representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture have complete information Mr. Dunlap said in closing.

He was a guest of John H. Dunlap, Jr., of Williamsport.

Irish Censors Hard to Please in Love Scenes

Dublin.—A boycott of movie theaters here was considered as a last desperate means of bringing the straight laced Irish film censors to terms.

Hollywood producers would go broke in a week if American censors were as hard to please as those here. English agencies, which redistribute most of the movies shown in Ireland, have been trying for years, but to no avail, to convince them there is such a thing as sex.

Nearly 40 per cent of the films sent here last year came back either rejected or bearing evidence of much scissoring in the spicier sequences. The kisses were removed almost entirely, and even platonic embracing was shortened considerably.

Six-Legged, Two-Headed Terrapin Being Studied
Ocala, Fla.—A six-legged yellow-bellied terrapin, with two perfectly formed normally functioning heads on a single body, found by Louis Tyson, Union county, Florida, and sold to U. R. Parker, Ocala, for $100 has attracted zoologists from all parts of the country. Parker claims to have refused an offer of $500 for the freak. It can eat with either of both mouths, and the two brains co-operate perfectly, each agreeing on proposed action. It can eat a cricket with one mouth and a piece of beef with the other simultaneously.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

WENT. Washington entered upon what he had now begun to ardently hope for—a long succession of pleasant and peaceful years as a master farmer. He had made one attempt before, now it was to be final. He set his hand to the task of broadening his acres, to the enlargement and improvement of Mount Vernon, and to increasing the productivity of his farms

THIS was one of Washington's docks, built for the handling of grain, tobacco, and other products, which he shipped in his own sloop to points on the Potomac.

"Buy nothing you can make within yourselves" was his motto. He made plows, directed his blacksmiths, wood burners, shoemakers, weavers and in a season saved from the river close to one hundred thousand herring, marketing about eighty-five thousand of the catch.

Monday Club Elects Mrs. Will President to Succeed Mrs. Bales

The Monday Club held another interesting meeting last evening with the president, Mrs. R. R. Bales, presiding. During the business session preceding the program, Mrs. Bishop Given was elected to active membership in the club, and the annual election of officers for the ensuing year was held. The following slate was elected:

President, Mrs. Clark Will; first vice president, Mrs. B. R. Bales;

second vice president, Mrs. G. L.

Hillier; recording secretary, Mrs.

Paul Johnson; corresponding secretary, Miss Carrie Olds; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Dunlap; member at large, Mrs. W. T. Uim; program committee, Mrs. G. G. Leist,

Mrs. C. C. Watts and Mrs. Tom

McKee.

Mrs. Nickerson, chairman of the division on "Women," then presented Mrs. Orion King, who gave a very interesting paper on "Women in the Public Eye." She referred to Dr. Mary Emma Woolly, the 68 year old president of Mount Holyoke College, who on Feb. 2 took her seat as one of the six American delegates to the General Disarmament Conference of the League of Nations in Geneva. She is the first woman ever to act as an accredited delegate to a major disarmament conference, and as far as Washington records divulge, she is the first ever to participate in any major diplomatic conference.

Another woman who has held considerable public attention is

Ruth Bryan Owens who conducted her campaign for Congress in a unique manner. She did her campaigning in a new model Ford car which she christened "The Spirit of Florida," and when her speech making tour was over the Ford motor showed nearly 10,000 miles traveled and the ballots showed a victory of nearly 15,000 for Mrs. Owens.

Mrs. King also touched upon interesting facts in the lives of Amelia Earhart Putnam, the famous aviatrix and Greta Garbo

the popular Swedish movie actress.

Mrs. Nickerson then presented

Miss Jeannette Rowe, whose subject was "Women of Vision."

The first woman mentioned in this group was Frances Willard, who at the age of 31 became the first woman president of a college in the United States—the Evanston

College for ladies, which later became a part of Northwestern University. A few months before she severed her connection with the university, the Women's Christian Temperance Crusade started in Hillsboro, O. and spread like wild fire over the middle states. Being thoroughly in sympathy with this cause, Miss Willard made several frank speeches for it in Chicago, and when she was free from her college duties, she entered wholeheartedly in the temperance movement, becoming president of the Chicago branch of the W. C. T. U.

Since her death the state of Illinois has placed her statue in the capitol at Washington as a tribute to her greatness of character, and to the progress of women.

The next "Woman of Vision" mentioned was Clara Barton whose activities during the Civil War made her so famous. It was through her energetic effort that the American Association of the Red Cross was organized and she became its first president.

Miss Rowe then sketched in an interesting manner the life of Jane

Adams of Hull House fame. When only six years old she accompanied her father on a business trip to a poor section of Chicago and it was then that her sympathy was awakened for this class of people and she is still active in humanitarian work. Chicago calls her its "First Citizen" but to the neighbors on Halsted-st. she is "The Lady of Hull House" the settlement where rich and poor meet on equal footing, and where the foreigner finds a helping hand in her big house that is set right down in the midst of the little ones.
